

Dr. Paul Bassey Okon-Inyang

Dr. Paul Bassey Okon-Inyang, RSS, is an Associate Professor of Soil Health Conservation and Water Management in the University of Calabar, Calabar, Nigeria. Married with 4 children, he has over 20 years' experience in teaching, research and community development services. He is a former Head of Department of Soil Science in University of Calabar, a Senior Associate of the Abdus Salaam International Centre for Theoretical Physics in Miramare, Trieste, Italy; Coordinated the SIWES program of ITF and a Veteran of World Food Day in the Faculty of Agriculture University of Calabar. Dr Paul is a grassroot farmer for over 25 years who works with grassroot farmers. He farms Pawpaw, Plantain, Cassava, Rice, Oil Palms, Pineapples, Cucumbers, and other vegetables and fruit trees. He trained various farm level groups locally and internationally and most of his works cum resources have been published online and in journals and conference proceedings.