

Margaret Afriyie – The Midwife Farmer

Margaret Afriyie is a dedicated midwife and passionate farmer who embodies the balance between healthcare and agriculture. With her professional training and experience in midwifery, she has supported countless mothers through safe deliveries, maternal health education, and newborn care. Her compassion and commitment to improving maternal and child health make her a trusted figure in her community.

Beyond healthcare, Margaret is also deeply rooted in agriculture. As a farmer, she cultivates crops and promotes sustainable farming practices, ensuring food security for her family and contributing to the local economy. Her dual roles as a caregiver and farmer highlight her resilience, hard work, and community-oriented spirit.

Margaret Afriyie represents the strength of women who multitask across professions—nurturing both lives and livelihoods. She continues to inspire others by proving that one can be both a health advocate and a steward of the land.
